HERE AND THERE

by FENWICK FINCH

More reports on "sightings" this time from the Boshkung Lake area. The objects were sighted by reliable people who wished their names withheld.

The sightings looked like stars and moved in a line up across the sky from the North to the South then, from East to West. They could not have been planes because of the number and speed and direction they flew. The lights would stop and seem to hover for awhile then take off at an unbelievable rate of speed.

Speaking of the good teen-agers and high school students the following information was handed to me. Over the week-end a group of high school students painted all the sports equipment for the local Kinsman Club — and a very fine job they did.

I'm always interested in people who have enough ambition to start an enterprise of their own. Last week I noticed two such businesses in the bud. One is a full-time operation and the other is a sort of hobby.

The first business is a "Year-round maintenance man. This business offers the public, carpentering, lawn maintenance, plumbing, snow removal, roof and driveway care. This work can be arranged by contract on a season or yearly basis. Also in this connection is the sales service and maintenance of water pumps.

To find out about this service write, Reg. Horsley at RR 1 Haliburton.

The second business or hobby is operated by Tom Farmer of the Dept. of Lands and Forests. This hobby comprises the placing of boats and scenes in bottles. These boats can be seen at "Deanwood's" where some are on display. This "boat-bottling" is only one of Tom's many facets; he's quite an artist, sign painter, and also does quite a bit of writing both prose and poetry.

Road conditions are causing a bit of discontentment around the village. The holes out towards the by-pass on the South Lake road are so deep one suggestion was that the automotive industry could use the area as a testing grounds for shock absorbers etc. Also one resident near the largest hole in the road told me he shot a ground hog as it climbed out.

The condition along the by-pass is improving. The various property owners are cleaning their grounds up and shortly the by-pass will be a beauty-spot well worth the effort that is being put into it.

When you get used to drinking coffee in congenial surroundings the loss of the closing of the restaurant, even on a temporary basis creates a hardship. I'm glad to say that things have returned to normal — my "grog spot" has re-opened for the season. Craig's opened over the holiday week-end and it was welcomed by their many friends and patrons.

Until next week then, think about this — I have a friend who is working on an invention. A special hair creme — it doesn't grow hair, it shrinks your skull to fit the hair you've got.

See you next week — until then, drive carefully.

SGT. JACK EASTWOOD TAKES COMMAND OF NORTH BAY DETACHMENT THIS WEEK

Provincial Police Sergeant Jack E. Eastwood of Minden received word last week of a move, which will take him farther North.

After nine years' service with the Minden detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police, Sergeant Eastwood assumed command on Monday of the North Bay Detachment.

Sergeant Eastwood said he has enjoyed his stay at Minden and he was somewhat surprised at the transfer. He said the move was to be effective June 1st, but he was granted the weekend to arrange the change-over.

Jack has made many friends here in Minden, and has served the community and the surrounding district well over the years, it is without question he will be missed.

Sergeant H. C. Fletcher of the Picton detachment will take charge of the Minden detachment. Mr. Fletcher has been on the force for 19 years. Eighteen years of which were spent in Picton. The Sergeant is married with no family, and is looking forward to living in the highlands.

MUST FIND WAYS TO RAISE INCOME OF FARMERS - LOGAN

David Logan, Liberal candidate for Victoria Riding said Monday night he felt an industrial milk plant would be feasible for the Lindsay area.

Mr. Logan said such a plant would need federal and provincial subsidies and it is a matter which should be looked into by the representative of the riding.

The candidate, who has been travelling around the riding the past few days, is concerned about the low income to farm producers in Victoria and Haliburton Counties. Mr. Logan said ways have to be found to raise the income of farmers and there is a great deal of merit in looking into the federal and provincial marketing boards.

ELECTION CALLED BECAUSE TRUDEAU WAS AFRAID TO FACE PARLIAMENT — SCOTT

William Scott, Progressive Conservative candidate for Victoria Riding told a rally of about 400 persons in Haliburton Thursday night Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau dissolved Parliament and called an election because he was afraid to face parliament.

Mr. Scott, who spoke briefly because of laryngitis, said Mr. Trudeau dissolved Parliament in the "twinkling of an eye" shortly after he took office and called a very unnecessary election.

The candidate told his audience Canada could not afford an election in February and he asked whether it added up that two months later the country's financial position changed to such a degree that it could suddenly afford another election.

Robert Thompson, PC candidate for Red Deer, Alta., who was guest speaker at the rally told the audience Mr. Trudeau, who was in office only a few days before calling the election, may find after June 25 he has set a record for the tenure of a prime minister.

He pointed out that the Liberals have only a makeshift cabinet and said Mr. Trudeau, a man who argues strongly about special status for none, has 14 Quebec members in his cabinet, compared with five members from Ontario and four members from the rest of Canada.

Mr. Thompson urging a return to what he called "a program of fiscal integrity", said Canada is attempting to arrange sizeable loans in several countries because of the worsening financial position in which Canada is finding itself.

He said Canada's $808 million deficit, the largest in its history was due mainly to the growth of government at the federal level. "This resulted in the highest cost of living increases in years."

The Pearson administration was criticized by Mr. Thompson for "its inept handling of the medicare question and he said when the program goes into effect July 1, it will mean an income tax hike for many Canadians.

He added that the increasing tax burden is one of the most critical matters Canada has to face.

Other points made by Mr. Thompson included:

— History has shown that whenever interest rates are high there will be a recession and interest rates are spiralling in Canada right now.

— Auto makers and the liquor industry should be represented at talks with government to "see if this carnage on our highways cannot be stopped."

— Leading New Democrats who have joined the Liberals are responsible for a fundamental switch in Liberal policies.

Mr. Thompson said he has not changed his convictions by switching to the Conservative party.

He said socialism was never a good theory, even when it was new. "If one needs evidence that socialist programs do not work there is no need to look very far — just look at the situation in England and the Scandinavian countries."

THE GULL RIVER

Lets take a good look at the Gull River, and ask ourselves one question. Are we doing this little stream justice? The Gull River is the only beauty spot Minden has, besides Pikes Peak, and to put it mildly — its a shambles.

In spite of ourselves this community seems to flourish in the summer, and I mean flourish. For its size this community stands second to none for a fine business section. With this in mind, you can't say the beautification of the river doesn't warrant some attention.

If you have community pride at all, it must bug you to death, like it does me, to see the grass three feet high along the banks. The rocks and logs on its shores are not only a hazard to swimmers but an eye-sore as well.

While on the subject of swimmers, this community will have to take a long look at the amount of pollution in the river this summer. This is certainly a touchy subject, but the fact remains, we must do everything in our power to prevent the river from becoming contaminated. From all reports the contamination point was all but reached last summer. When council is asked about the pollution in the river, their reply is, "We are continually taking tests of the water." But what are they doing to prevent contamination. They probably won't think along these lines until the signs are posted, "Water Polluted". Everyone knows the answer, to keep the water from becoming contaminated — sewers, there is no other way. This town needs them, and needs them bad.

There are a lot of people shutter at the thought of sewers and the expense involved. Some say they are still drinking water out of the river, and have been for the past few decades, and wonder why all the concern. All we can say is, drink man, drink, times have changed, and so has the water.

We could also get on the subject of the low water in the Gull. This has been tossed around, and around, with no one big enough to handle the situation. It is a farce how the Orillia water company has put it over the people running Minden's municipal affairs over the years. Sure they out-smarted us, years ago, but this doesn't mean they have to continue, to pull the wool over our eyes.

The Rotary Club have done a fine job in beautifying the river in front of the post office. But they can not be expected to do it all. Some of the people living along the river do their share in keeping the grounds in front of their homes in good condition. But what is being done about the rest of the river bank. I have been living on the river for three years, and I can't see where the town has made many improvements.

We feel the municipality should hire a man full time to keep the grass cut and flowers blooming along the river throughout the spring, summer and fall. And when the tide goes out, which is every weekend — stumps, rocks and debris cleaned up.

Lets look after the most beautiful thing we have — the Gull River.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Wilberforce, May 27, 1968.

Dear Sir:

I am writing to you on behalf of our Mentally Retarded. No doubt you were delighted, as were the rest of us who are interested in helping these unfortunate people, to learn of the new legislation to bring the Schools for trainable retarded children under the new county boards of education. At least we are relieved of the problem of financing our school which cares for children between the ages of 5 and 18, so now we can concentrate on other age groups of which those over 18 are our greatest concern at present.

One of our pupils has now reached 18 and others are not very far behind. Is it fair to turn them out unto the street? At present we have nothing more to offer them and the many more who were too old to benefit from any school training.

The solution, of course, is a sheltered workshop where these people can continue their training and assume a life of dignity and usefulness in the community. Of course there are many stumbling blocks in our way but were we not told that we could not have a day school? Many of the problems are the same — transportation, a building, a director, etc., but the most important is a supply of work for them.

These people are capable of doing well many simple jobs normal people find costly and boring. In fact there is no end to the number of variety off jobs they can be trained to do well. And this instills in them such a sense of responsibility and achievement.

Our citizens have been so very helpful in getting our school started and in supporting it for nearly eight years. The Haliburton and District Association for the Mentally Retarded is very grateful for this help and are hoping that they might continue with their generous support so that a sheltered workshop can be set up. The need is very great. We would also welcome any suggestions in this matter.

Incidentally, the second printing of our popular Centennial Cook Book has arrived. Those who missed securing a copy last will find them in various places of business throughout the county or get in touch with me.

Gertrude F. Miller, Chairman
Home Care Committee,
Hal. & District Association for the Mentally Retarded.

SCOTT ON THE MOVE

Victoria Riding's Progressive Conservative candidate is on the move.

William C. Scott is now engaged on a six-day grassroots tour of this vast riding.

On Monday he was in Ontario County, Tuesday he moves into the Buckhorn and Lakehurst area east of Pigeon Lake and on Wednesday he is travelling through the north end of Victoria County and on into Haliburton. Thursday sees him back in Ontario County where he will attend a meeting in Longford Community Hall that evening. Friday brings the hard-working candidate into Lindsay for a brief stopover during which he will participate in the opening of the new United Co-operatives mill. That afternoon he swings over to the northeast portion of the riding — Cardiff where he will attend a meeting in Cardiff school. Going from there to Bancroft, Mr. Scott will take part in a meeting at the Royal Canadian Legion Hall at which The Hon. Leslie M. Frost will be guest speaker. And Saturday — out on the hustings again, this time covering parts of Victoria County during which he will be in Lindsay and Bobcaygeon.

COOKING FROZEN FOODS

Frozen meats can be cooked either before or after thawing, reminds the Food Council, Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food. Small cuts of meat cooked unthawed mean a juicier product.

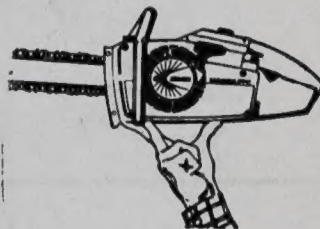

For frozen roasts, the extra time will be adjusted according to meat thickness and surface area. Frozen steaks, chops or patties more than one inch thick should be broiled at least 4 inches from the source of heat, so the outside will not become too brown before the inside is done.

When pan-broiling frozen steaks and chops, a hot frying pan allows the meat to brown on the surface before defrosting occurs. Reduce heat after browning.

THE VERY CUTE, BUT NUISANCE BEAVER

With spring breakup over, the annual complaints in connection with nuisance beaver problems are now pouring into District Office, said the Department of Lands and Forests Officials in the Lindsay district.

While complaints are many and varied, the most prominent ones include flooding of roads, cutting down of prized shade trees and the construction of beaver lodges inside boat houses.

This problem is quite prevalent over the whole of the District due to the high population of this particular fur-bearing animal. Where possible, the Department does try to give assistance by having local trappers remove as many beaver as possible during the regular open season. This covers the period November 1st to March 31st next, following when beaver pelts are prime and of merchantable value.

During the closed season cottagers and landowners are instructed to take whatever action they consider necessary under the authority of Section 2, Subsections (b) and (c) of the Ontario Game and Fish Act. This section makes provision for the destruction of beaver and/or beaver dams in defence or preservation of property, by any means at any time. Where a person has taken or killed any fur-bearing animal in the closed season on his own lands in defence or preservation of property, he shall within ten days thereof report the facts to the Department, and he shall not offer the pelt of such fur-bearing animal for sale or barter during the closed season except under a licence. Section 55, Ontario Game and Fish Act.

Some of the amendments made this year to statutes of interest to municipal officials deals with the Community Centres Act.

Larger grants are available to municipalities that desire to build community centres.

Section 2 (1) of the Act was repealed and re-enacted. The effect of the amendment is to increase the grant payable, in respect of the cost of a building or part designed for a community hall or skating arena, or of the cost of an athletic field or outdoor skating rink to $10,000 or 25% of the cost. Grants on the cost of a building or part designed for an indoor swimming pool or on the cost of an outdoor swimming pool are increased to $15,000 or 25% of the cost.

Section 2 (3) was also repealed and re-enacted. Grants are now provided up to $20,000.00 or 25% of the total cost of a building or part designed to include both a community hall and a skating arena and up to $25,000 or 25% of the total cost of a building or part designed to include both a community hall and an indoor swimming pool. Section 4 (1) was repealed and re-enacted along with a new section 4a being added.

Enlarged provisions are now provided respecting the joint use and construction of a community centre by two or more municipalities.

The new provisions permit the Minister to make a grant to each municipality provided that the total grant shall not exceed 50% of the cost of the Centre.

The limit on the number of members who may constitute a community centres board was also removed. The act was also amended to remove the limitation the required that not less than one half of the membership of a board be composed of persons eligible for election to the council of the originating Municipality. Although the act was amended and another subsection added these were the major changes. These amendments came at a good time for Minden and now it will be up to Council to decide what course it will pursue.

Hiking For Health And Fun

By P. R. Davidson

One of the consequences of the incredible advances in technology which have taken place in recent years has been the accelerated and more complex demands on the human resources responsible for these changes. A necessary reaction to this way of life is a greater need to "unwind" and the opportunity to participate in some form of relaxing exercise.

There are hopeful signs of an increasing awareness in physical fitness, and adherents will have discovered ample authority that walking is second only to running and swimming in building fitness. The same benefits surely are gained whether one plays eighteen holes on the golf course or takes part in a "walk athon" in support of a cause. However, away from the urban setting and the reucous environment more conducive to relaxation.

Walking trails such as the "Bruce Trail" which follows the Niagara Escarpment from Queenston to Tobermory, although hardly typical in terms of length, are examples of the growth in popularity of this form of outdoor recreation. Many other trails have been developed, or are in the planning stage, by a number of agencies. Some of these, such as those in Provincial Parks, are "interpreted", which means simply that the various aspects of the trail environment are described or pointed out. This is accomplished through conducted tours by a competent guide, by signs located along the trail, or through a printed guide which corresponds to numbered stops located on the trail. Other trails are simply hiking trails in which the walking is enhanced by being located in a natural environment.

In addition to proposed trails presently in the planning stage, the Department of Lands & Forests has developed the following trails in the Lindsay District: Two interpreted trails in Presqu'ile Provincial Park near Trenton, a trail in the Ganaraska Forest in Northumberland, and a trail to the Peterborough Petroglyphs near Stoney Lake, north of Peterborough. Information on these trails may be acquired by writing District Forester, Ontario Department of Lands & Forests, 322 Kent Street, West, Lindsay, Ontario.

Other public agencies are also developing trails in the Lindsay District. The Peterson Trail Association is developing a trail from Maynooth on Highway 62 to Muskoka Falls on Highway 11, following the old Peterson settlement road. About 65 miles of this trail is in the Lindsay District. The Ganaraska Trail Association has recently completed a hiking trail from Port Hope to Reaboro, which it is planned, will eventually run through Lindsay to Midland, with a connected trail between Peterborough and Cobourg.

For further information on these trails, write to: Peterson Trail Association, in care of R. J. Curry, Box 30, Haliburton, Ontario. and Ganaraska Trail Association, J. W. Goering, 57 King Street Port Hope, Ontario.

In order to inform inquiring members of the public interested in trails, the Department of Lands and Forests would appreciate any additional information on trails open to the public.

Project School-to-School, the Ontario Department of Education's program of twinning Ontario Schools of the Caribbean islands, has prompted two Trinidadians to write a calypso about the philosophy of the Project.

Kell Winzey, a musician, wrote the music and Darryl Dean, a newspaper editor, wrote the lyrics. Entitled "Join Hands and Hearts", the calypso has been recorded and copies have gone to all Ontario and Caribbean schools and radio stations.

As a gesture of their appreciation for this unique venture into promoting better understanding between peoples, a silver record was presented to the Honourable William G. Davis, Ontario's Minister of Education.

DOLLARS AND GOOD SENSE

by William J. Martin

Dear Sir: Could you tell me, in your own opinion, how much a family of five (three children — two girls, 14 and 11, and a boy, 8) need to carry on a moderate standard of living? Let's presume they plan and budget.

M.E.R.

You asked "how much (money) a family of five needs to carry on a moderate standard of living," a question which needs definition in order to answer — and which, if defined, would answer itself.

For example, what might perhaps be a "moderate standard of living" to you and to me would be a luxury to one segment of the population and a pauper's income to those fortunate families at the other end of the spectrum.

Thus, what is a "moderate standard of living?" Is it steak three times a week? A new wardrobe for the entire family, every spring and every fall? Is it a new car every three years? Is it more than this or less than this?

If we could define these things we would have the answer to your question. Of course, it would be a different answer for almost every family, but it would be an answer, wouldn't it?

Unfortunately, in our society we can't dictate the kind of income we would like to have, even though we would consider that income only "moderate." Instead, our family financial planning must start with the income we have. Then we must spread that income so that it affords us maximum satisfaction. We must make individual decisions as to how we want to spend what money we have — the amount we want to spend for food, clothing, shelter and other necessities, and if there is any left over, in what ways we want to dispose of that income.

Needless to say, we may not be able to spend as much as we would like for food (for example) because to do so would leave us with an amount insufficient to pay for other necessities. So we must balance our spending — all the while staying within our income, the first rule of sound family financial management.

I appreciate that I have not given you the kind of answer to your question that you would like but I hope I've shown you that there is no direct answer to that question.

EXT. DIVISION OF SIR SANDFORD FLEMING COLLEGE

HALIBURTON SCHOOL OF FINE ARTS

In the Haliburton Highlands a group of citizens, inspired by the beauty of their lakes and hills, became convinced of the need in Eastern Canada for something similar to the Banff School of Fine Arts. In 1967 they organized to establish the Haliburton School of Fine Arts.

Autumn courses in landscape painting and photography were held as a trial venture. The interested response confirmed their belief in the project. It also awakened the interest of Sir Sandford Fleming College in Peterborough.

The Haliburton School of Fine Arts is still managed — on a voluntary basis — by the original organization now known as the Haliburton Guild of Fine Arts, but it has become an Extension of Sir Sandford Fleming College. By this association the School is able to offer a variety of courses with outstanding instructors. They aim to help both the beginner and the advanced student in Arts and Crafts. The beginner will obtain a sound technical and artistic basis for individual development; the advanced will benefit by further study with outstanding artists.

LANDSCAPE PAINTING, OIL

For those who have some as well as those who have considerable experience in painting.

Instructor: Oscar Schlienger

- Course 1: Mornings — July 22 through August 2
Course 11: Afternoons — July 22 through August 2
Course 111: Mornings — August 5 through August 16

These courses will attempt to develop the inherent ability of the student and, while giving artistic guidance, allow complete personal freedom to the advanced student to develop his artistic taste according to his own personal conception.

DRAWING AND PAINTING

For the adult beginner:

Instructor: Oscar Schlienger
Afternoon: August 5 through August 16

This course is for those with very limited or no experience in drawing and painting. A certain ability in drawing and sketching is a basic requirement for successful painting, but the beginner often finds formal instruction in drawing tedious and boring.

Oscar Schlienger believes that by learning to draw and paint at the same time the student progresses more rapidly and in a more challenging and satisfying manner.

Course 11 can be taken as complementary to Course 1. Darkroom Techniques (including enlarging) — for those interested, three evenings (August 7, 8 and 9) will be devoted to the above techniques under the direction of Mr. Landman.

THOMPSON SEES DIMMING OF TRUDEAU IMAGE — "MASS HYSTERIA" NOT CONDUCTIVE TO GOOD GOVERNMENT TORIES TOLD

Mass hysteria is not conducive to good government, Mrs. Maurice (Alene) Holt, member of Peterborough council and chairman of the women's advisory committee of the Ontario Progressive Conservative party told a meeting of the Victoria-Haliburton Women's Conservative Association Thursday night.

Mrs. Holt said "mass hysteria" is no excuse to vote for someone. "We need a leader and a prime minister who is strong, who has ability, who knows what should be done for all of Canada. We need a business man who has wise judgment and can, with a good team around him, proceed to get our Canada out of this $800 million indebtedness."

Mrs. Holt told the meeting this is an important election because the future of Canada is at stake. "Why do I say that? Because the Liberals would have you vote for an unknown quantity could be one reason; many people are being hypnotized into Trudeauania. And what's he offering?" she asked.

He has said he is not making promises but will take each day as it comes along, she said, and she questioned what kind of government Canada would have under the Liberals and what assurance will Canadians have of a "decent sort of government?"

"One would think, from reading press releases that this election is entertainment — a play in which someone is going to receive an Oscar. How can people be so stupid?" she demanded.

"Stupid," she added, "is what I heard Mr. Trudeau call some people in Quebec on the news program the other evening — possibly just because they didn't want to go along with his thoughts."

To say no promises will be made is like swimming out into deep water with the hope you will get back, said Mrs. Holt. "Everyone should have a goal — without a goal we might as well be dead."

"Fortunately, here in Victoria-Haliburton, you have a candidate still youthful enough to understand the young people, yet he is a businessman, capable of knowing what he is doing. He has the confidence of both the rural and urban voter and as your sitting member of Parliament, he is now offering you experience," she said.

Mrs. Holt said the country needs MPs and a prime minister who have the experience, the substance and the maturity to plan for the betterment of Canada and work as a team. She said Mr. Stanfield is developing this team, whereas Mr. Trudeau has had one-third of his cabinet leave him.

"Mr. Stanfield is not the glib politician. He thinks carefully before he speaks — as well we all should — therefore, many think him dull."

She said Mr. Stanfield is "a no-nonsense kind of guy who believes that a political party must unite the province or nation and make a stable government possible."

"We have a leader who has promised to work hard towards improving housing, will immediately try to improve the serious pollution problem, our economic position; he is interested in your youth but he is also very interested in our senior citizens who have been responsible for Canada in its first century. We have a leader, willing to serve his country, and in whom we can have confidence," said Mrs. Holt.

GIDEONS MEET

The May Gideon meeting held in Fenelon Falls was the end of the Gideon fiscal year so the election of officers took place as follows: President James Cooper; Vice-President Elmer Evans; Secretary Archie Stouffer; Assistant Sec. Robert McBrien; Treasurer Max Aldous; Stewardship Chairman Everett Davey; Church Services Frank Rogers; Scripture placement Sam Rivers; Memorial Bibles Earl Pitts; Publicity Fred Reeds; Chaplain Ken MacAleese; Jail Services Eldon Smith.

A letter from Head Office was read re the making of a survey of hotels and motels in this district which will disclose the number of Bibles and Testaments placed by the Gideons in these business establishments. James Cooper and Fred Reed were appointed to make this survey.

The Treasurer, M. Aldous reported that the quota of $2,350 was well over the top.

Frank Rogers reported two church services held during the month at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church when President L. Crimp of Gideons International in Canada spoke.

Earl Pitts reported $63 received for Memorial Bibles from the funeral homes of the district.

Speaking of the Zone 9 Rally held in Saint Andrew's Presbyterian Hall during the month the members were greatly pleased at the decided success of same. The very fine banquet catered to by a group of the Presbyterian women, — the solos by Mrs. David Garst and Mrs. Douglas Burke — the illustrated address by Mr. Crimp on his recent visit to India and other Asian countries — panel discussions, etc.

The meeting closed with prayer by Robert Krick.

SHOPPING LIST GO-TOGETHERS

Advertised food "specials" that are real bargains and Canada's Food Guide help plan an economical shopping list, says the Food Council, Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food.

Reliable food ads list the food specials that are currently in good supply, and can form the basis of a weekly shopping list. Canada's Food Guide, available from your local Public Health Unit, lists the basic foods that are essential for healthful family meals.

For example, when eggs are in good supply and advertised at a reasonable price, plan on using eggs often in the weekly menu, in main dishes, dessert items, sandwich fillings and so on. Fill in the remaining menu requirements using the Food Guide. After checking the existing food supply, write out any needed items and complete the shopping list.

FERTILIZE YOUR ROSES FOR HEALTH AND BEAUTY

The condition of the foliage is an excellent indicator of the type of fertilizer roses will require. Horticulturists with the Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food advise home gardeners that fertilizer should be applied to keep the plants healthy throughout the season.

To overcome deficiencies of nitrogen, phosphorus or potassium, use one of the commercial fertilizer mixes such as 5-10-5, 5-10-10. Pick the one that suits specific needs, keeping in mind the condition of the plant foliage. Remember that the grades given above indicate the percentage of nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium, respectively, in the fertilizer. Each plant should be given one heaping teaspoonful of the fertilizer. Each plant should be worked into the soil, and followed up with a thorough watering. First application should be made when the new growth is well under way. This should be repeated several times throughout the season. For further information on deficiency symptoms of roses, write to the Information Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food, Parliament Buildings, for Publication 328, Hints on Rose Growing

U.S. FIRM GIVES STANFIELD TOP BUSINESS RATING

Robert Stanfield, leader of the Conservative party, was described last week as "possibly the world's most well-rounded chief executive, exhibiting all of the behavior characteristics leading to excellence in management."

This appraisal of Mr. Stanfield, given at the third annual spring conference of the Massachusetts Society of Certified Public Accountants, is of particular interest to the Canadian public which today is aware of the importance of Canada's role on the international stage of politics and economics.

Mr. Stanfield's management style was analyzed by Jerome Barnum of New York, internationally renowned consultant, in a study based on his work as a management consultant with executives of large organizations in 27 western countries.

He described Mr. Stanfield as a "multicrat" — knowing how to use participative techniques when required by the situation but never hesitating to make a firm decision when this was needed."

"Mr. Stanfield has the intellectual flexibility and sensitivity of an Adlai Stevenson, the human warmth of a John F. Kennedy, and the organizational preciseness and skill of a Herbert Hoover. America would be fortunate indeed to have such a man in the presidency."

He based his analysis of Mr. Stanfield on first-hand experience gained when the Jerome Barnum Associates firm was engaged by the Nova Scotia legislature to make a comprehensive study of all aspects of the government of Nova Scotia during 1958 and 1969 when Robert Stanfield was premier.

"Mr. Stanfield understands how to create an ambience for improvement," continued Mr. Barnum, "and he manages to achieve his objectives by bringing out the best in other people. Deputies and civil servants who had been doing things in the same old way for years suddenly discovered that life was endowed with richer satisfaction when everyone got involved in the improvement process. Brave new heresies supplanted outworn and unprofitable orthodoxies to the benefit the province," he claimed.

High on the list of internationally known executives which Mr. Stanfield headed was the late Dr. Heinz Nordhoff, the genius who guided Volkswagen from the bombed-out rubble of post war Germany to a position of world-wide pre-eminence; and Don Eugenic Garza Sada, head of the largest business in Mexico.

THE SCENT OF DEATH

The young boy loved animals. Therefore, he was overcome with pity as he looked down at the fawn, rubbing its small head against his legs. He couldn't resist its soft bleating and those big, brown, trusting eyes, so he knelt and cradled it in his arms. Thus, the kind boy became the fawn's executioner. When the baby deer was cuddled in those sympathetic arms, it was immediately covered with the "scent of death" — the human scent which spells DANGED to keen animal noses.

Animals seldom, if ever, abandon their offspring without good reason. The mother of this seemingly deserted fawn was just out of sight, feeding, before returning to care for her young one. When she came back, her sensitive nostrils picked up a hostile odour. Her baby was tainted. Mother instinct was replaced with fear and a strong desire for self preservation. She would no longer nurse this sudden liability but leave it by the trail to die.

On another occasion, a Lands and Forests conservation officer, who was patrolling a northern Ontario river, looked towards the shore and saw two hunters; nothing unusual here, except one was holding a moose calf while the other photographed it. The officer immediately beached his canoe and gave the young men a one-minute lesson in conservation, but it was too late; the small moose died when its mother did not return.

Then, there was the case of a family who, while driving along a wooded country road, almost hit a bewildered fawn. It looked so frightened and forlorn they took pity on it, and, thinking it would make an interesting pet, put it in the car and headed for home. However, they found that no formula agreed with the young deer, and it died of starvation; some perish from dysentery.

If captured young animals are lucky enough to live until adulthood, they can become a general nuisance and even dangerous. There have been a number of so-called "tame" deer striking out viciously with sharp front hooves if agitated. Kindness to young wildlife may unwittingly cause a quickened death; indeed, many young animals have had their death warrants signed by pitying campers or hikers.

Besides the harm done to young animals through human contact in the wilds there is also the danger of contracting rabies from the animal. The animal may appear "friendly" and approach unhesitatingly, while in reality it is suffering from this disease, fatal to animals and to humans as well, if medical treatment is not begun immediately.

It is contrary to regulations to keep wild animals unless a special permit is obtained from the Department of Lands and Forests.

A wise policy is "leave and let live" as human contact could make an animal one of nature's untouchables.

WOODS, WATERS AND WILDLIFE

By James Woodford

More bluebirds have been reported this spring than any since the late '50's, according to the Federation of Ontario Naturalists.

Reports are coming in from all regions of the province, especially the south-east and south-west.

Once a common roadside and orchard bird, the bluebird has suffered several setbacks in the last decade or two. The starling is reported to be a strong competitor for nesting sites. Severe spring storms, specially freezing rain and extreme cold weather in the southern United States on the bluebirds wintering grounds have taken their toll. More recently a widespread program, designed to control fire ants, has resulted in millions of acres being treated with deadly pesticides. All in all the bluebird population dropped to what may have been unprecedented low numbers.

Bright blue upper parts, combined with a reddish brown breast, should distinguish the bluebird from other Ontario birds. The blue jay and indigo bunting have much blue in their plumage but otherwise are quite different.

Bluebirds build their nests in tree cavities, old woodpecker holes, rotted-out fence posts and bird boxes, at heights from three to thirty feet. The nest is of grass often mixed with leaves, rootlets, hair, feathers and leaves. The pale blue eggs are laid daily until the clutch is completed. The usual number is five, but may vary from three to seven.

The eggs take about sixteen days to hatch. Both male and female bluebird feed the young in the nest. It is about eighteen days before the young are ready to leave the nest.

The FON is conducting a Bluebird Survey and would like to hear from anyone who has seen bluebirds this spring. Write to: Bluebird Survey, Federation of Ontario Naturalists, 1262 Don Mills Road, Don Mills — list the number seen, date and place and if nesting details of nest site, eggs etc.

LOGAN COVERS MUCH

GROUND IN QUEST FOR FEDERAL SEAT

During the past seven days David Logan, Liberal Candidate for Victoria-Haliburton, covered a lot of territory, both geographically and politically.

Mr. Logan attended official functions in Beaverton, Valentia, Cambray, Downeyville and Woodville as well as covering many miles over the rural roads of the riding. Time is at a premium and the area is vast; however, Mr. Logan is doing his utmost to talk to as many people as possible throughout the riding. He is concerned about their problems and, although he isn't promising that the problems will be completely solved, he is promising that he will do his best to bring about solutions if elected. He also stresses that the member for the riding of Victoria-Haliburton can do more if the member belongs to the party in power and Mr. Logan feels that there is no doubt that Mr. Trudeau will form the next government.

The leaders of the respective parties have had quite a lot to say regarding regional economic disparities. Most intelligent people realize that the problems must be solved in order to certain economic and sociological chaos.

David Logan stated, "I will take this problem further. I will see to it that the disparities within the region of Victoria-Haliburton are brought to the fore. I will promise that Mr. Trudeau, Mr. Stanfield and the rest of the House of Commons will hear of the problems in Victoria-Haliburton. For years the people of our area have suffered through lack of representation. It is high time that the riding got more representation. This can be done by electing a Trudeau man. The Liberals will win, Mr. Trudeau will form the government and Victoria-Haliburton must have a man in that government that can be heard."

Mr. Logan made the aforementioned statement just before leaving for Prince Edward Island to attend his mother-in-law's funeral. Although sidelined for a few days, Mr. Logan promised to be back on the hustings on June 4.

A BUOYANT ECONOMY

Liberalism means a just society, a concerted attack on inflation, the promotion of orderly economic growth, the reduction of regional economic disparities, and responsible government spending. A Liberal Government will emphasize performance rather than promises—quality rather than quantity.
